Task 1

You will hear a boy called Simon giving a class presentation about a course in digital art he went on.

Hi! My name's Simon and I'd like to tell you about a digital art course I went on at our local college. The course teaches you how to use digital techniques like Photoshop creatively. It's really interesting. The course lasts for five days and anyone can sign up. For an adult it costs five hundred pounds but there's a discount for students. University students pay four hundred and fifty but if you're a school student it's only three hundred and seventy-five. That convinced my parents to let me do it. At first, I thought I'd need an expensive camera to do the course but actually they tell you that a normal smartphone is good enough. In fact, all you have to take on the first day is a memory stick. Everything else is provided. The course dealt with different things on different days. I was really looking forward to learning how to do line drawings on screen. But actually, the session on color and how to use it was the most interesting. It really changed the way I think about my artwork. A good thing about the course is that everything you create is saved digitally in a form that is easy to print when you get back home or if you want to take a copy and to show your friend at school, you don't need any special equipment. In fact, after the course all your work is uploaded onto the college website where you can see it in a gallery. My parents were really impressed to see it there. To hear more about the course you should email the teacher who's called Maggie Hurley. I'll spell her address for you. It's M-H-U-R-L-E-Y@college.com. She's a great teacher and she'd be happy to tell you about the course.
