-Hi, Sarah! How about going to the new shopping centre on Saturday?

-I don't know Mark. That means spending money and I haven't got much.

-Well, you can help me spend my birthday money.

-Gosh, Mark! I'm so sorry I forgot your birthday!

-No, you didn't. It's next Thursday on the fourteenth. But yesterday my aunt Mary gave me twenty- five pounds to buy my birthday present.

-What do you want to buy with your money?

-I can't decide. I need a pair of trainers, but I would really like a new video game!

-Okay, I'll come with you if you buy me an ice cream.

-Of course I will. A big cone.
